GREAT LIST OF NAMES FROM ILLINOIS

ILLINOIS STATE PILES UP BEST REGISTRATION OF ANY UP TO THIS POINT AND LEAVES RIVALS IN THE SHADE

No more important State is to be found in the Union than that of Illinois. It is close to the greatest center of population in the United States and contains the second greatest city in the land—Chicago. The magnificent position of this city by the side of Lake Michigan, whence its commerce is carried to all points; its network of railroads, its packing houses; its art school and its schools of music; its enterprising newspapers and its thousand-and-one business concerns give to Illinois an importance second to that of no other state, unless New York.

All this makes Illinois a State that figures largely in the history of the country. Its citizens are intelligent, apt, versatile and reliable. That Glendale should contain so large a proportion of citizens who hail from that great, prosperous, central State is a guaranty of its continued prosperity and advance. Practising the art of fortune-telling in the streets of Glendale, for gain or money, is prohibited under a city ordinance, unless the fortuneteller has first secured a license, which costs $150 a month. It requires a considerable stretch of imagination to see a fortune-teller earning $150 a month in the streets of Glendale, so Jane Doe Bulah, a gipsy of persuasive tongue, tried to get along without the civic permission. While practising her art in a store she was arrested by Patrolman Laurance and brought before Judge Whomes, who fined her $5.00, which she paid with a grudge. From appearances, however, Jane had done her best to earn the $150. Henceforth her diligence will be exercised in cities where licenses are not prohibitive and where police officers are not so alert as in Glendale.

STATES FOR NEXT WEEK

So much interest is being taken in the State lists of names that the publication of these lists will be continued. On Monday, Oct. 25, will be Kansas Day. The loyal sons and daughters of the Sunflower State should make a good showing. See what Illinois has done. This long list is the work of the Illinoisans who worked with a will to get out the names.

Tuesday, Oct. 26, will be Nebraska Day; Wednesday, Oct. 27, will be Michigan Day, Thursday, Oct. 28, will be Kentucky Day, Friday, Oct. 29, will be Minnesota Day, and Saturday, Oct. 30, Ohio Day.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to night and Sunday; westerly winds.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

Bible School meets at 10 o'clock, the subject for lesson study is "Elijah's Heavenly Defenders." Divine worship is held at 11 o'clock, when the pastor will speak on a very timely topic, "The Fate of Discourager." At 6:30 p.m. the C. E. will meet to study the important topic of "Capturing Politics for God." The 7:30 hour will be devoted to worship and study of the topic, "Progressive Steps in the Christian Life."

Next Sunday, Oct. 31, is generally and widely known as Reformation Day. At that time Protestant Churches more or less touch on some phase of Protestantism and exalt the virtues and great character of Dr. Martin Luther, the "Hero of Protestantism." Next Sunday commemorates the beginning of the great German Reformation by Luther nailing up his "Ninety-five Theses," or "Propositions" of his personal protest against the errors and corruptions and misleading customs and teachings of the then existing church. Those "theses" were nailed up in public, exposed to all passers by, on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg on Oct. 31, 1517. So ready was the religious world for such a bold stroke against all sorts of civic and religious heresies that in less than four weeks they spread over the whole of Europe. They saw in it all the dawning of a new day in civic and religious liberty. The movement was hailed with delight and sincere fervor. Our glorious country and all that it means to us today, to the down-trodden of the earth, the inhumanity and brutality of some modern nations, is the best answer whether that great reformation was a movement of man or of God. On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Oct. 31, Rev. Mattern will speak on "The Echoes of Luther's Hammer." All are gladly welcome to all services.

Prof. Lachinger will give the following:

Organ Voluntary, Fuge in A Flat (Farmer) Solo, "Face to Face" (Johnson) Offertory, "Echoes of Harmony" (From Concone) Gospel Solo, "He Calleth for Thee" Organ Postlude, Trumpet March (Newell)

I'm a Sucker

NOTA BENE—All you Buckeyes, Hoosiers, Hawkeyes, Jayhawks and others of whatever appellation, I can save you money on everything I sell. Make me prove it. The meanest man in Michigan had his local merchant fit shoes on his eleven children and then passed out without buying a pair—he only wanted to know the sizes so he could send to Sears-Roebuck. Let us help build up the town we live in. Be a booster. Yours truly, or Endeavor, 3 p. m. C. E. meeting, 6:15.

For a number of weeks the Sunday evening program will contain a "Pulpit Editorial" on some timely topic, given by some competent man or woman. This will not take the place of the sermon, but will precede it. Tomorrow evening the pastor begins a series of practical talks, about a dozen in number, on the "Prodigal Son," as recorded in Luke, 15th chapter.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH

"A homelike church; all welcome and always welcome," is the motto of the Methodist church. The subjects of the pastor's sermons tomorrow promise some interesting things. At the morning hour of worship, 11 o'clock, Mr. Snudden will speak on "Mortgages or Endowments; or Cradle Desk and Armchair?" This will be of vital interest to all, with a message men should hear. If you did not hear the sermon last Sunday evening it was your loss. There will be special musical selections at each service.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

That business is picking up is indicated by the increased number of weddings. At the First Baptist Church Rev. J. H. Troy will preach on Hezekiah's Revival. Plenty of spiritual dynamite will be used to awaken the sleepers in Zion. The evening topic will appeal to the Young Men Fall?" Young man, cut the movies Sunday night and bring your lady friend to the Baptist Church, where you will both hear something worth while. Strong arguments in favor of marriage will be presented. Don't miss this sermon.

The Baptist Bible School invites all visitors in Glendale to attend. The First Baptist is the most central church in town. 9:30. Roy Kent, Superintendent. B. Y. P. U. at 6:45. Fred Sanford, President.

GLENDALE MINISTER IS CONVERTED

One of our local ministers, having read the following in an exchange, immediately brought the clipping to the pastor for his subscription to the News office.

"An editor once applied at the door of Hades for admission. 'Well,' replied his sable majesty, 'we let one of your profession in here many years ago, and he kept up continual row with his former delinquent subscribers, and as we have more of that class of persons than any other, we have passed a law prohibiting the admission of editors."

WELCOME TO PASTOR

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CONGREGATION HOLDS RECEPTION FOR REV. D. B. SNUDDEN

To all appearance the new pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church will have ample support in the important work of that congregation, judging from the kindly reception tendered him by the members of the church Friday evening. The church was filled with a warmly sympathetic crowd, who showed their good feeling and their appreciation of Mr. Snudden in various ways. From all that was expressed throughout the evening it could be gathered that the new minister will have loyal support in all that he may undertake for the good of the church and the extension of its field of work.

Mrs. Phillips had prepared a very excellent program. In this she was efficiently assisted by the program committee, which manifested a spirit of catholicity by going to the sister churches in the city and obtaining their co-operation in the entertainment of the evening.

Opening with a pleasing voluntary by Mrs. Beveridge, the proceedings were given tone by the feeling and witty address of welcome tendered by Prof. Tower to the new pastor. Mrs. Cammack then gave two selections. Miss Helen Wright's reading was humorous enough to set the gathering a roar.

One of the features of the evening was the mandolin and guitar music by Messrs. Franklin, Yarick and Beers. The vocal solos given by Prof. Bishop, accompanied by Mrs. Bishop, were both charming and artistic. Mrs. Moore's reading was received with much favorable comment.

The Rev. Mr. Norton gave a pleasing address in the course of which he added something to the words of welcome spoken by Prof. Tower. The Rev. B. D. Snudden made a fitting reply, in the course of which he gave the people an outline of the work he has been planning since he has had an opportunity of looking over his work in Glendale. It was noted by the people that the new pastor believes that the children of the parish should have pleasant surroundings while in Sunday School and that a modern home is necessary for the carrying out efficiently of that graduate work in the Sunday School which alone brings results. The new pastor urged the necessity of forming the minds of the children in the proper way and training them up in the way they should go. This training, he pointed out, could best be given where the house of God had been made as homelike as their own homes.

MASS MEETING

A temperance mass meeting, under the auspices of the State Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will be held at the Bible Institute, 540 S. Hope St., Los Angeles, Sunday, Oct. 24, at 3 p. m. PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McCoy, 127 E. Third street, have been entertaining as their guest during the past few days, Miss May Sutherland of Wahoo, Nebraska. Miss Sutherland is going out to India as a missionary, along with Miss Pearl Adams.

Herbert J. Potter, 220 S. Verdugo Road, who is suffering from an injured leg, has been confined to his bed for some time. He is making a slow recovery and it will be some weeks before he will be able to be about again. His friends express their sympathy for his illness.

Harry Goldsmith, the popular solicitor for Johnson & Lyons Grocery, caught his foot in a V-shaped hole in the street and badly sprained his ankle Friday. Upon X-ray examination it was found that a bone was broken, and his foot was placed in a plaster cast with orders from his physicians to "keep out of mischief for a few days."

Miss Ethel Graham, who resided for the past seven months at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Graham, 235 E. Third St., has gone back to her own home in Eugene, Oregon, whence she writes to her friends that she has had a pleasant trip north, but will always look back with pleasure to the happy days she spent in Glendale, to which she hopes to return some time.

Miss Clyde Brooks, 246 S. Louise street, entertained at dinner Thursday in honor of Miss Pearl Adams, who leaves soon as a missionary to India. The party was conceived in Hallowe'en vein. The decorations were yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Adams received a shower of handkerchiefs. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Clyde Brooks, Miss Grace Richardson and Miss Helen Harrison. The guests were: The Misses Pearl Adams, Jeanette McLennan, Vera Grant, Mina Robertshaw, Fern Porter, Elsie Wilson, Lois Woodard, Jennie Horsch, Vivian Engle, Clyde Brooks and Mrs. James Hooper.

Take your Sunday dinner at the Glendale Sanitarium, price 50 cents.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL SOCCER

In the grammar school league games (soccer) this week, Columbus and Pacific Ave. played to an 0-0 tie, while the fast Central Ave. team defeated the Broadway boys in a splendid game, 1-0. Standing of teams:

	Played	Won	Lost	Tied
Colorado	1	1	0	0
Central	2	1	0	1
Columbus	2	0	0	2
Pacific	2	0	1	1
Broadway	1	0	1	0

The Intermediate boys met Logan St. (Los Angeles) at Logan yesterday afternoon and the game resulted in a 1-1 tie. The small grounds handicapped the Glendale boys and made fast team work impossible.

See column one, page two, for menu for Sunday dinner at Glendale Sanitarium.

Mr. Stofft's brother, Frederick Stofft, who has just arrived here from Calgary, Canada, has also bought two acres of this choice property and will also make his home here.

MUCH INTEREST IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of 106 Orange St., Chairman of Political Science for the Los Angeles district of Woman's Clubs, had the unique distinction Tuesday of teaching the first Political Science Section ever inaugurated in a club in the Los Angeles district. This section was inaugurated in the Pasadena Shakespeare club of 500 members. Next Thursday afternoon Mrs. Jones will instruct the Political Science section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale, at their first meeting, at the home of Mrs. A. L. Weaver. These two clubs are the first in the district and perhaps the first in the state to take up Political Science as section work. Mrs. Jones finds that all the clubs in the district are taking a great interest in this work. She is to address the Sierra Madre Woman's club on this subject on Monday, the Woman's Club at Inglewood on Tuesday and the Echo Park Mother's Club on Thursday morning.

PRAISES NEWSPAPER ASSISTANCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—"The smaller newspapers of the country have to their credit one of the really great achievements of the last few years—I mean the spread of compulsory education," declared W. Carson Ryan, Jr., editor of the United States Bureau of Education, in an interview with the United Press.

"Two years ago there were six states without compulsory education laws; today there are but two. The change is largely due to the smaller newspapers.

"Here, in the Bureau of Education, we have learned from years of experience to depend upon the paper of this type.

"It is a curious thing that much of the educational progress of today is being made in the smaller towns. The big city has the system, the organization, the discipline; but the smaller city is apt to have the independence and spirit that makes for progress.

"The smaller newspaper is notable for its boosting of progressive ideas.

"It is apt to be in closer touch with its constituency."

FOR NON-PARTISAN LAW

MATTISON B. JONES SAYS SYSTEM GOOD FOR THE COUNTY IS GOOD FOR STATE

As election draws near it becomes manifest that the fight over the non-partisan ballot is going to be a close contest. Men and women are taking sides, according to their political leanings, and the non-partisan ballot is evidently to be decided by an uncompromisingly partisan encounter. The question is one that is being well discussed from both sides. Prominent Republicans have stated their opinions and prominent Democrats have answered. Public meetings have been held and debates have helped to clarify the atmosphere or befog it, as the case might be.

Asked by a representative of The Glendale News to state his attitude on the question, Mattison B. Jones, the well-known attorney and prominent Democrat, said:

California has fifty-eight counties, and each county in its system of franchise is on a non-partisan ballot basis. If such a system of government is good for each county of California, why would it not be good for the state? It is only a difference of population and correspondingly a difference in number and kind of activities. If the non-partisan ballot system is good for Los Angeles County with its more than one million population, why would it not be good for the state with its three and a quarter million? Would the people of Los Angeles County vote to put the county again on the partisan basis? Positively not.

Well, you may say, if it is largely a question of population, why not have non-partisanship for the nation? The answer, in part, is that the problems of the state are local and internal, and those of the nation are both internal and external. Men may well and honestly differ as to the policies embodied in laws which should prevail in the world business of the nation.

Four thousand, five hundred elective officers in this state are chosen at non-partisan elections. The non-partisan bills merely add to that number seven state executive and department officers, four district officers, and one hundred twenty members of the legislature. For my part, I want those seven executive and department officers, four district officers and one hundred twenty legislators to know that their allegiance and loyalty belong to every man, woman and child in the state. Why should the governor of this great state be elected on a basis different from the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the state? Are not character, honor, integrity and brains requisite for both positions? And if the people can be trusted to elect the chief judicial officer of the state on a non-partisan basis, cannot they be trusted to elect their chief executive officer on the same basis?

Advocates of partyism in the state ask what assurance can we give them that officers elected on a non-partisan basis will be stronger and more efficient than if elected on a party ballot. This is a pertinent question and should not be answered by us in a light vein. The answer, in part, is that a true servant is ever conscious of his debt and duty to his master; else he is not a faithful servant. It is a trait in human nature and as old as man. I have never held public office and can, therefore, speak only from observation and from my somewhat intimate knowledge of human affairs; but I have attended my party conventions from the city to the nation, and have had some share in my party's activities and I note that it is absolutely impossible psychologically or actually for a party officer to absolutely divorce himself, while in office, from his party and its peculiar interests.

If a man be nominated by the people of the state and elected by the people of the state, he consciously becomes and is the servant of the people of the state, and he works through no party glass, but through the glass that magnifies the interests of the entire body politic. His is an independent atmosphere wherein he can best serve his state. If he desires office again, he needs but take stock of his acts in the light of the interests of a great and enlightened people, and, like Paul, boldly approaching the throne of grace, he can boldly go before the people and leave it to them to say if he has been their faithful servant.

The evil tendency of partyism in state affairs is toward a slavish subserviency to the leaders of the party; and it matters not if the leaders of such party be corrupt. Witness, as one of the best examples I have ever known or read about, the leaders of the Republican party in this state a few years ago, Abe Ruef and William F. Herrin. Thanks to Governor Johnson that the Southern Pacific has been effectively removed from politics in this state.

I shall not be afraid of this state having an invisible government when the people as a whole, and not parties, nominate and elect their public servants.

I see in this struggle to put the business of our state on a business basis an opposition founded upon long usage, prejudice and selfishness just as the opposition to Woman's Suffrage in California is now of a negative character; and yet only a few years ago it was formidable and unyielding. It may be reasonable to expect some of the women of the state, who have never at heart favored woman suffrage, to vote against these bills; but I cannot reasonably expect any woman in California who has fought and struggled for her enfranchisement to vote against these bills.

Civil service in the nation is but another name for non-partisanship in the state. Both are weighed in the balance of merit. I wish that all could look such questions squarely in the face and vote for the best interests of the state and her people.

I am a Democrat and, to my mind, a most loyal one; and as such I want to say right here that if I were a member of Congress, I would introduce a non-partisan tariff commission bill, and would do everything I could honorably do to secure its enactment into law. All too long the real business of this great nation, as touched and controlled by the tariff, has been, like a football, kicked up and down and over the political field in a way to satisfy certain political demands. It is common knowledge that the financial interests centering in Wall Street have no love for a reduction of the tariff, and are willing to produce financial depressions and their consequent sufferings in order to gain nefarious ends. If there was a non-partisan commission at the helm of that great economic question, Wall Street would have to lay its blame at the door of that commission rather than at the door of the Democratic party.

Being thoroughly convinced that the non-partisan bills make ample provisions for effective party machinery in national elections, and believing in the existence and workings of parties in national affairs, and further believing that the people of California will be greatly benefitted, and that the Democratic party of the nation will be strengthened if the non-partisan bills become law, I am supporting the bills.

LONG TOUR IN DODGE

The stamina and touring ability of the Dodge Brothers' car has been well evidenced during a trip which is just being completed by J. C. Marshall, of Oakland, Cal.

Early in the summer Mr. Marshall, accompanied by Mrs. Marshall and three friends, left Oakland in a Dodge Brothers' touring car with only standard equipment. The party crossed Death Valley and proceeded across the continent to Detroit, which was reached on August 3. After visiting the Dodge plant they crossed over into Canada and toured to Toronto and from there to the Owen Sound region.

The party is now on the way back. Sending word to Dodge Brothers' plant from St. Louis, Mr. Marshall said:

"We have had a most enjoyable time and the car has done far more than was expected of it. We had no trouble crossing the Great American Desert and we came through mud and water in Nebraska that would try any car. As we have been traveling for pleasure no effort has been made to establish any time records but our daily runs have averaged high throughout the trip. Three punctures is the sum total of the trouble we have had this far and we have averaged 18.2 miles per gallon of gas on the entire tour."
